Species Name: Voltbolt

Moves & Abilities

Primary Ability: Thundervolt

Thundervolt boosts the power of the move Thunderbolt by 30%. Voltbolt takes a few seconds to lock its multiple tails to act as a unified acceleration chamber as it charges up to shoot its high-power energy strike. The blast turns the space touching it into plasma as it passes by. If performed with all three tails, the blast deals an additional 50% damage to any shields or barriers, as well as additional knockback.

Move: Thunderbolt

Move Name: Thunderbolt
Type: Electric
Power: 90 | Accuracy: 80-100%
The user channels electricity and fires a precise blast to a single target. This move can be fired in quick succession and has an increased critical hit chance. The baseline accuracy for individual Thunderbolt blasts is 90%; however, if fired in quick succession from the same source, the accuracy drops down to 80%.
When used with the Thundervolt ability, the move has a 100% accuracy.

Visuals & Mechanics

Voltbolt is an electric-steel type that is covered in a dense yet surprisingly soft coat. Its fur ranges from gold to orange. The fur is constantly charged with static electricity, naturally repelling dirt, dust and debris; however, the pelt is sleek and streamlined rather than coarse.
Voltbolt has 3 fluffy tails with hints of chrome where its primary electrical energy lies. A Voltbolt needs its tails and without them it cannot live. Each tail has the ability to fire a Thunderbolt, and two or more can be combined to perform a Thundervolt.
Under the fur, the skin of a Voltbolt is a sort of biological carbon fibre. This allows it to absorb the violent recoil and immense heat generated whenever its tails channel a full-power Thunderbolt blast. The insides of a Voltbolt act as a particle accelerator, constantly providing energy to the tails and charging up for any attacks.

Life Cycle

Unlike Vulpix, Voltbolt is born with all three tails but they have no attacks. Its tails gain their moves as it grows up. A Voltbolt can only successfully breed if its partner is a member of the following species: Eeevee (and all evolutions), Vulpix, Zorua, Pikachu, Fennekin, Absol, Rockruff, Ditto.

Habitat/Region

Kanto, Johto, Sinnoh, Paldea.
However, it is far less often seen in Kanto than other regions.
